

One-day Awareness Symposium on Antimicrobial Resistance and Molecular Diagnostics

April 17, 2026 at NIBGE, Jhang Road, Faisalabad, Pakistan

NIBGE is one of the main biotechnology institutes of the four bioscience centers of PAEC and was formally inaugurated by the President of Pakistan in 1994. It is also an affiliate center of ICGEB, Italy. The institute is a focal point of modern biotechnology and provides a technology receiving unit to help the development of country through applications of modern biotechnology and genetic engineering. The research programs at NIBGE are mainly aimed at improving agriculture, health, environment and industry and are supported by national and international financial grants.

The institute research facilities include state of the art equipment supported by technical services, IT facility and a National Library for Biological Sciences. The institute now offers several services and marketable products. The educational programs leading to MPhil and PhD degrees have also been incorporated in the institutes mandate for the development of human resources in the modern sciences.

MOLECULAR DIAGNOSTICS are critical in combating antimicrobial resistance (AMR) by providing the rapid, highly sensitive, and specific detection of resistant pathogens
